House Committee on Ways and Means

Republican Rep. Jason Smith of Missouri frees up the seat atop the Budget Committee by becoming chair of the Ways and Means Committee, which writes federal tax policy with the Senate Finance Committee. Smith is part of a hotly competitive three-way battle for the Ways and Means gavel — one of the most powerful in the House and vacated by Brady. Reps. Vern Buchanan, R-Florida, and Adrian Smith, R-Nebraska, have also put their names in the ring.

Jurisdiction: The panel oversees revenue measures, including: customs revenue, collection districts, and ports of entry and delivery; reciprocal trade agreements; revenue measures relating to the insular possessions; bonded debt of the United States; deposit of public moneys; transportation of dutiable goods; tax-exempt foundations and charitable trusts; national Social Security, except health care and facilities programs that are supported from general revenues as opposed to payroll deductions and work incentive programs.
